Antecedents

The F-JS120 Intention fin made by Aropec Sports Corporation of Taichung, Taiwan, is a relative newcomer. It dates back to the early 2010s, when the Aropec F-JS12A Foundation fin was also first introduced.

Marium Sports Company Limited in the same city currently offers solid-colour and two-tone versions of the 120 fin in its range of “high-quality swimwear”. The Subgear Jelly fin has recently switched from the 802 to the 120 design.

Hele i Waho, which supplies the Japanese market, offers two versions of the 120 in three sizes: The Classic Rubber Power Grip Fullfoot (holo) in size-coordinated solid yellow, white or black and the Classic Rubber Skin dive Fullfoot (Iana+) in solid black. Both come with a “power grip point” (right) built into the foot pocket for the toes to grip.
